Six Courses Will Be Offered Engineers, Scientists Feb. 3

A group of six courses for engineers and scientists in Calumet Region industry will be offered by the Purdue University Calumet Center during its spring semester which begins February 3.

"The courses have been set up to provide the men in the area with degrees, some additional training that will fit in with their actual experience," said Millard E. Gyte, director of the Center.

The courses are advanced ferrous metallurgy, industrial relations, labor economics, and two advanced mathematics courses, elements of matrices and advanced engineering mathematics. The instructor for the advanced ferrous metallurgy course will be Dr. George St. Pierre, researcher at the new Inland Steel research laboratories located on the Calumet Center Campus at 2233 - 171st Street.

"We hope to provide graduate engineers in the area with a means of becoming better acquainted with steel production processes," explained Dr. St. Pierre.

The course has been requested by the engineers themselves, many of whom were trained in fields other than steelmaking, and by steel industry executives. The course includes study of the processes used in the production of liquid steel with the blast furnace, the basic open hearth furnace and the bessemer furnace to be treated in detail. The class also will study recent research publications.

New Lecture Program Is Planned to Replace Assembly Program

The Student Affairs Committee announces a new lecture program to replace the present curtailed assembly program. Originally the assembly program was designed to hold one assembly each month, but lack of facilities here on the Center Campus and the increased number of college students have made it difficult to hold monthly assemblies for the entire student body.

At present the number of assemblies has been limited to one each semester; that is, the Christmas assembly sponsored by the Student Senate and the Honors Day assembly held in March and sponsored by the Scholarship Committee.

To replace this monthly assembly program a monthly lecture series is now being arranged to begin in February. These monthly lectures will be sponsored by the various departments on the campus here—such as Mathematics, English and Speech, Chemistry, Engineering, History and Government, Biology, or Physics.

It is hoped that with each department sponsoring these lectures that members of the Center faculty, campus faculty members or outside speakers may be obtained to supplement the classroom subject material, or supply supplementary information of a general or detailed nature.

Each department will be asked to promote one lecture a year as part of its academic curriculum and therefore attendance would be required generally for those students attending classes in that department or field of study. Other students are free to attend as they wish, depending upon their particular interest.

Students Urged to Pre-register Before January 21 to Elect Desired Classes

All students who wish to pre-register for courses of study in the coming spring semester should do so before January 21. By pre-registering, a student has a better chance of getting into the class desired before they are filled and he also avoids the confusion accompanying regular registration.

The procedure to be followed by the student is as follows:

1. Contact advisor after securing the form cards from the office.
2. Fill out the cards but leave the sections blank that call for section, room and hourly schedule.
3. Obtain the advisor's approval of the program.
4. Fill out the white schedule card and have the advisor sign it.
5. Bring all the cards back to the office where sections and schedules will be assigned.
6. Complete all cards with the assigned schedule after the class control cards have been pulled by the registrar.

Regular registration will be held on February 1 and 2 from 1-4:30 and 6-9 respectively. Those who have not pre-registered must wait until regular registration to register. Fees can be mailed to the cashier's office by February 3, 1955.

Orientation exercises will begin at 8:30 on January 28.

National Guard Quarters Give Center a Gym

As a result of a cooperative effort of the area National Guard and Purdue University, the Calumet Center will receive much needed athletic facilities, shortly.

The National Guard will use the building for their headquarters and will get first choice as to available dates for military use. During the remainder of the time the Center will have priority. When not in use by either the National Guard or Purdue it will be rented out to other organizations.

Calumet Center will get the use of a 50x90 foot playing floor with seating for 600 people. Locker rooms, to be furnished by the extension, are proposed to have space for home and visiting teams —350 lockers plus storage space. Also available will be a complete kitchen and a 24x70 foot classroom with a seating capacity of about 200.

The preliminary architectural drawings were inspected at a meeting last Tuesday by the Calumet Center and the National Guard. These plans will be sent to Washington, D. C. and Purdue, Lafayette for final approval. Bids will then be accepted from contractors. This is a rush project and should start in May.

The new building is to be located on the northwest corner of a 325x500 foot plot of ground at 173rd Street and the N.Y.C. tracks. It will be one floor, modernistic, and landscaped building with a proposed overall size of approximately 156 feet square. Extensive parking space is a prime consideration.

PLAN TO ATTEND TOURNEY BY BUS

Arrangements have been proposed for the chartering of a bus to carry Calumet Center students to the off-campus tournament at Lafayette. January 29 is the tentative date for the tournament.

Two games will be played in the morning session. The final will be played as a preliminary before the Purdue-Minnesota game.

The price will include admission to all games including the Purdue-Minnesota game and transportation is expected to be approximately $5.25. Watch the bulletin boards for a definite announcement.

Now let's play Dragnet: Where were you all on the nights of Dec. 9 and Jan. 4?

Our crowd contained a few spectators this time, but only a few.

Faculty Feasts, Exchanges Gifts

Approximately 160 staff members and their families attended the recent annual Christmas party at Purdue Calumet Center.

Four turkeys with all the trimmings were set before the hungry pedagogues "family style," in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

The evening's activities include movies for kiddies, a gift exchange for the grown ups, and the appearance of old Santa (Professor Frank Schlosser), with a big sack of gifts for all the youngsters.

The Committee on arrangements consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zacher, Mr. and Mrs. John Borkert, Mr. and Mrs. William Gross, Dr. and Mrs. John Tuckey, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nittinger, Mr. and Mrs. George Payne and Mrs. Earl Davis.

Miss Jane Chernan became the bride of Pfc. Ralph Carl during a candlelight ceremony at the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Hammond Sunday, January 2, 1955. A reception for approximately 200 people was held in the church auditorium following the ceremony.

Hurry to Carnival! Fun for Faculty

HURRY! Step right this way, Ladies and Gentlemen!! It's CARNIVAL TIME!!

It is the Purdue Faculty Party. The date for faculty to remember is January 22, 8:00-11:00 p.m. in the Student Lounge. The price will be 50 cents per person or $1.00 per couple. There will be Square Dancing, Fortune Telling, Roulette, Bingo, Darts, Ring Toss, other games and attractions. Also last but not the least there will be refreshments—and there you have it.

Assembly Program Closes 1954 Activities

The annual Christmas Assembly Program of the Calumet Center was held in the Student Lounge Wednesday morning, December 22. All classes during that period were dismissed to make it possible for everyone to attend.

Jerry Pels, master of ceremonies, welcomed the students and introduced Mrs. L. W. Cone, sponsor of the Student Senate, who, in turn, introduced the members of the Senate. An announcement concerning the Christmas formal was made by Richard Lovin.

Group singing carols, led by Jim Fitzgerald and Merle Pfeil, was followed by a unique reading, "Christmas Every Day, delivered by Mrs. Donald Norris. Miss Ala Marie Holloway appeared next on the program, singing "O Holy Night."

Rev. Paul Ammerman, pastor of the Woodmar Reformed Church, gave a brief talk on the meaning of Christmas and offered a prayer.

The program was closed by the singing of "Silent Night" by the group.

BUILDERS' COURSE TO BE OFFERED IN FEBRUARY WILL INCLUDE HEATING

The Calumet Region's continuing expansion is reflected in two courses which will be offered by the Technical Institute of the Purdue University Calumet Center this spring.

Millard E. Gyte, director of the Center, said the two courses—heating, ventilating and air conditioning, and construction methods—were designed to meet needs expressed to the university by builders and contractors. Both are advanced courses for graduates of the two-year program in building and construction offered by the Technical Institute.

The construction methods course will deal with the latest methods of building. The other course will be a study of the types of heating systems, heat transfer and insulation, fans and ducts, air vapor mixtures and air conditioning.

New Model Displayed At Nagler Home

Monday, December 13, 1954 proved to be a very eventful day in the life of Dr. and Mrs. Nagler. It was on this day that the first cry of their beautiful daughter Barbara Irene was heard in St. Margaret's Hospital.

Barbara Irene weighed 7 lbs. 3 oz. when she first came into the world and has probably gained some since then as she is now enjoying to her full advantage the leisurely life that all infants have.

Dr. Nagler is a full-time instructor in Chemistry here at the Extension.

Congratulations Dr. and Mrs. Nagler!

Seems Bob Hardt forgot to get the team's towels sent to the laundry after the Morton game, so he and Coach Hayes had to take them to the laundromat and do the job themselves.

Tribulations of Speech Class Pay Off

Tribulations of Speech Class pay off. Very often students grumble about getting up in front of the speech class and talking. We think that our audience is against us and is ready to throw things at us. We are very nervous, and often cannot say what we want. Instead we stammer, stutter, and perform miserably.

If we stop for a second and analyze this situation, we will find its cause is entirely mental. It is common for the beginner in speech to be nervous and fell his audience is against him. After a few speeches he will become better and in time will have no fear at all. When making speeches on the job we will look back and laugh at ourselves for having been nervous and audience conscious.

In the long run the person trained in speech will have a better vocabulary and a much more desirable personality, to mention but a few of the benefits.

The Kendall team showed up, plete with their equipment, etc., at the lounge rather than at Edison. It looked like a win by default, but they finally showed up.

Thanks to Mr. Hale

Every one affiliated with the CALUMET BOILERMAKER expresses sincere thanks to Mr. John Hale, head custodian for the new circulation boxes in the lounge and lobby.

These attractive boxes serve a worthwhile purpose in that they are in centralized locations for efficient distribution of the CALUMET BOILERMAKER.

Congratulations to the team on its first victory of the season. Kendall College was the first victim.

The Kendall game saw Curt Nelson spending most of the second half on the floor. He put up quite a fight and dusted off most of the floor while he was at it.

Ray Williams got a number this time and played pretty well with it.

All the team played a good, clean game and it looks like another win when they visit Kendall on Feb. 25.

The crowd on the Purdue side chipped in and bought a couple of large pizza pies, very good but difficult to eat while scoring. My score was off, by one dripping being taken as a field goal on the sheet.

Barbara Tolin

One of the most traveled persons at the Purdue Calumet Center is Barbara Tolin. In the short span of 18 years, this girl has found her home in five states.

Barb was born in Wheeling, West Virginia in 1937. She started grade school in Marion, Ohio, and finished in Chicago, Illinois. For a time in between she lived in Pennsylvania. This intelligent being managed to get double promoted, not once, but twice in grade school.

Finally in 1950 the Tolin family moved to Whiting, where they now reside. Barb attended George Rogers Clark High School. She was very active in the Student Council, the A Cappella Choir, the Y-Teens, the Girls Athletic Club, the Future Teachers of Amercia, and the Booster Club. Even with all of this, she earned a membership in the National Honor Society.

To teach Home Economics is her goal. Barb is currently studying here full time but with the start of the spring semester, she will only be here for night classes. You may have seen her working in the library. When not in class, she's sure to be there. She is also a representative on the Student Senate.

Barb likes to listen to music when she has time for recreation. As she put it, "Every type of music from jazz to concert, but not too much of anything at one time." Also on her "like" list are dancing, swimming, ice-skating, visiting people, food in general, and Warren. Speaking of Warren, you might look for a diamond, third finger, left hand in the near future.

Psychology instructor, and guidance counselor would describe the position Dr. Carl Elliott holds with the Purdue Calumet Center.

Dr. Elliott is another native Hoosier. He was born in Columbus Indiana and attended school there. After being graduated from Columbus High School, Dr. Elliott entered Indiana University. He studied there until he received a Bachelors and a Masters degree in Business Administration.

Dr. Elliott was in the Air Force Band during the Second World War. (I hear he's a hot trombone and piano player.)

Before starting to teach, Dr. Elliott worked in Cincinnati, Ohio as a personal consultant. Then he took his first teaching position at Miami University.

Coming to Purdue he obtained his Doctor's degree. Three years ago he came to his present position here.

The recent floods hit his new home in Woodmar and Dr. Elliott and his lovely wife (a high school classmate) are still cleaning up and repairing the damage.

His hobbies center around his three young daughters. He likes to take 35mm slides and home movies of them. Occasionally you might find him at a piano.

Robert Lawrence Bell is the formal name of a person better known to most of us as just plain "Bob."

Born in Hammond, Bob has lived in the Calumet area all of his 24 years. He attended St. Mary's grade school and Bishop Noll High School in East Chicago. While in high school, he was very active in the Science Club and he helped organize the Student Council. At the present time he is here at Purdue in a pre-med course.

Working in his own laboratory, Bob, between 1949 and 1951, did research work of the effects of radiation on heredity; the effects of Colchicina or Drosophila; the description of the microsporidian parasitic on Drosophila; and made observations of the white rat indicating it is not the albino as has been long thought. (Pardon me, while I get a dictionary.)

Bob served with the 867th Field Artillery Battalion of the U. S. Army for two years. His work there involved both nuclear physics and surveying.

For outside interests, Bob lists only one—his fiancee, Miss Betty Evans. She is a former student of the Calumet Center and a registered medical technician. They are planning a summer wedding.

Mr. Mark Anderson, who has headed Purdue Calumet Center's Biological Department for the past five and a half years, obtained his A.B. Baccalaureate Degree from Lawrence College.

He started graduate work at University of Wisconsin and completed his Masters Degree at Montana State University. He has also done graduate study at the University of Illinois and University of Chicago.

Before coming to the Purdue Calumet Center, Mr. Anderson taught Bioliogy in Wisconsin public schools and at the Galesburg Division of the University of Illinois.

Mr. Anderson points with pride at the new, modern, well equipped laboratory and complete reference library at Calumet Center. He said that students at Purdue Calumet Center are lucky in this respect because few schools are so well equipped to teach the introductory biological sciences.

Winter Dance Event

The annual winter semi-formal sponoserd by the Student Senate was held December 23 from 9 to 12 p.m. in the lounge of the Center. Over 80 couples in attendance enjoyed dancing to the music of the Mello-Tones in an atmosphere of holiday gaiety.

Several couples representing the faculty and the administrative office included the L. Winston Cones, the P. T. Meiers,, the Carl Elliotts, the Nicholas Relichs, the K. W. Smiths, the A. P. Jolys, the M. E. Gytes, the M. O. Holowatys, the Robert Hayes, the H. Martins, the E. C. Galletts, and Mr. Alex Wilson, attended the dance.

Calumet Squad Wins First Game of Season

The Calumet Center basketball team scored its first victory of the season before a cheering crowd of 20 fans by defeating Kendall College 84-66.

The first quarter looked as if it would follow its usual course with the score standing 22-17 in Kendall's favor. The Boilermakers tied it up during the second quarter, and at the half it was still tied at 33 all.

During the third quarter Purdue Calumet exploded, scoring 29 points while holding Kendall to 15. The final quarter saw the Center squad again outscore Kendall.

Bob Kurtz was high scorer for the evening with 28 points. Belcher of Kendall was second high with 26. Although it was a hard-fought game no one fouled out.

Center Drops Game To Thornton, 105-69

A slightly larger and more experienced team from Thornton Jr. College of Harvey, Illinois moved into the Hammond Civic Center last Tuesday night to hand the outclassed Boilermaker squad a 105-69 defeat.

The Thornton team, fresh from holiday practice sessions, doubled Purdue Calumet's score until their reserves started coming in.

The game opened with Thornton jumping to an early lead before the Calumet group woke up. The rout continued until the half with the score at 61-26 in Thornton's favor.

The second half was sparked by a show of life from the Boilermakers with Kurtz scoring 6 buckets, Perry 3 and a charity.

The Center team played without the services of Dick Slader, who was still in New York, and Curt Nelson.

Purdue Calumet took credit for the two top individual scorers of the game: Kurtz racked up 26 points and Perry 23. The high Thornton man was Martin with 21.

The Boilermaker's squad's lack of practice was apparent in their weak, faltering play during the first half as compared to their revival in the second half.

The return match at Thornton on Friday, Jan. 28 will provide a chance for vengeance.

Boilermakers Defeat Steelmakers, 61-58

Purdue's Calumet Boilermakers defeated Inland Steel's Local 1010 quintet in an "out of league" battle December 16 in Edison school gymnasium, 61-58.

It was a close fought duel up until the final whistle as indicated by the score with neither team leading by more than six points at any time during the game.

The individual scoring for Purdue was fairly evenly distributed with Bud Perry high with 15 points. Rich Slader and Curt Nelson followed with 13 points each.

In the final quarter, with the score tied and one minute remaining, Curt Nelson hit two free throws and "Zeke" Zelencik added the final free throw for the winning points.

With a three-point lead the Boilermakers went into a semi-stall for the final 30 seconds of the game.

Center Tourney Is Set For January 29

The Purdue Calumet Boilermakers will travel to West Lafayette to participate in the annual off-campus Extension basketball tourney Saturday, January 29. Purdue Calumet Team meets the Indianapolis team that morning at 10 o'clock.

Fort Wayne plays the Michigan City five in the 11 a.m. game. The winners of the morning play the championship game at 7 p.m. that evening. This game will be played as the preliminary game before the Purdue-Minnesota Big 10 game in the Purdue Fieldhouse. The Calumet five is the defending champion — the Calumet Center having won the championship in 1950, 1952, and 1954.

In last year's tourney the Calumet Center squad defeated Indianapolis in the final game to win the championship.

Wrestling Club Seeks Members

This was to be a report on the activities of the Wrestling Club but up to the time of this writing there has been an absolute lack of activity. Activity isn't the only thing lacking however; there is a lack of interest and members. The lack of interest is not in the faculty for they have given their wholehearted support to those of us who have shown interest in the project. Dr. Smith has okeyed the project.

Dr. Nagler has given us much helpful information concerning the formation of the organization and Mr. Hayes has offered to coach the team, find us equipment and schedule matches for the team. There is an urgent need for at least 10 more members.
